AIR FORCE WELCOMES PUBLIC INPUT ON PROPOSED ENVIRONMENTAL ACTION LANGLEY

AIR FORCE BASE Va. (ACCNS) -- Air Combat Command is preparing an Environmental Impact Statement to analyze the potential environmental consequences of a proposed expansion and enhancement of the Air Force's existing Powder River Complex. The proposed plan to restructure and reconfigure the existing PRC Military Operations Area will provide a versatile, scalable complex with more realistic, effective, and efficient air combat training needed by B-1 and B-52 aircrews flying from Ellsworth AFB, S.D., and Minot AFB N.D., respectively.

Proposed changes include creating new airspace with a floor of 500 feet above ground level (AGL), eliminating some existing airspace, authorizing use of training chaff and flares, and permitting supersonic flight above 10,000 feet AGL throughout the special use airspace.

The following locations have the potential of being affected by the proposal's overhead training airspace: Montana--Crow and Northern Cheyenne Reservations and the counties of Big Horn, Carter, Custer, Fallon, Powder River, Rosebud, Treasure, and Yellowstone; North Dakota--Standing Rock Reservation and Adams, Billings, Bowman, Golden Valley, Grant, Hettinger, Morton, Sious, Slope and Start counties; South Dakota--Standing Rock and Cheyenne River Reservations, and Butte, Corson, Harding, Lawrence, Meade, Perkins, and Ziebeck counties; and Wyoming--Campbell, Crook, Sheridan, and Weston counties.

Open communication is a critical element of the EIS process, and the Air Force will host a series of public scoping meetings to receive public input on the proposal and alternatives, as well as to gain a better understanding of the potential issues and concerns related to this proposal. During the meetings, Air Force representatives will describe the proposed action and alternatives, explain the National Environmental Policy Act, and, to the extent possible, answer questions about the proposal.

The schedule and locations of the open house scoping meetings are provided below. All meetings will begin at 4 p.m. and end at 7 p.m. The public is invited to attend anytime within these hours. Dedicated meetings for members of Native American tribes who have the potential of being affected by the proposed training airspace are being planned. Comments will be accepted throughout the environmental analysis process and will be used to help shape and refine the proposal and assist the Air Force in making informed decisions.

All public input should be received by Aug. 4 to ensure inclusion in the Draft EIS. People wishing to mail comments or provide further input should send them to: Ms. Linda DeVine, HQ ACC/A7PP, 129 Andrews St, Room 317, Langley AFB, VA 23665-2769
